Former councilman convicted in 'Stripper-Gate' scandal ordered to report for custody by end of the month

A former San Diego city councilman convicted in 2005 of taking bribes from a Las Vegas strip club owner seeking to overturn San Diego's "no-touch" ordinance must begin serving his 21-month prison

Earlier this month, the U.S. Supreme Court refused to hear the appeal of ex-councilman Ralph Inzunza, who was convicted in July 2005 of extortion, wire fraud and conspiracy. He was sentenced five months later by U.S. District Court Judge Jeffrey Miller.

Verdugo proposes council member suspension.

- Chula Vista City Attorney candidate Attorney Marco Verdugo held a press conference in the Chula Vista City Council courtyard Monday, proposing a three-point comprehensive Anti-Corruption Action Plan to fight corruption and hold City Hall accountable.
- Verdugo's three-point plan is to reinforce the City's system of checks and balances by convening legal experts to recommend revisions to the City Charter, including granting the City the authority to investigate and recommend the suspension of council members' authority by a four-fifths super majority when there is evidence of corruption or malfeasance in office, with a clawback provision that requires them to pay back their salary during their suspension if they are convicted of a felony, and to establish a transparent process for the City's actions, ensuring due process and protecting against political misuse of power.
- Verdugo said suspending a council member by revising the City Charter is legally sound.

§ 30.12 CENSURE OF COUNCIL MEMBER.

(A) (1) The Council has the inherent right to make and enforce its own rules and to ensure compliance with those laws generally applicable to public bodies.

(2) Should any Council member act in any manner constituting a substantial violation of these rules or other general laws, the Council, acting as a whole, may discipline that Council member to the extent provided by law, including public reprimand.
