An aerial rendering of a city street showing a proposed green-painted bike lane. The bike lane is a bright green strip running parallel to the road, with a white dashed line on its left side. A white car is driving in the lane to the left of the bike lane, and another white car is driving in the lane to the right. A person is riding a bicycle in the green bike lane. Pedestrians are walking on the sidewalks, and there are trees and street signs. The word "QUESTIONS?" is overlaid in large, bold, black letters in the center of the image.
